Britannica 1951-53
 Until June 24th Selfridges exclusively launches Britannica 1951-53 conceived by esteemed curator Judith Clark in collaboration with illustrious milliner Stephen Jones and Italian producer of high-class mannequins La Rosa. The fashion exhibition is an homage to some of the most desirable styles worn by the Queen's contemporaries between 1951 and 1953 includes one outstanding archive piece from one of the Royal Family's favourite designers at that time, South-African born Victor Stiebel. The exhibition takes a radical approach to showcasing the past, by almost entirely recreating key looks from the period rather than merely using vintage clothing.
